Naming Conventions for Functions

To assist us with automation of project evaluation please follow the following naming convention for functions in the AI projects:

Unless other instructions are given in project documentation, please give your functions the same name as the arguments they are passed as.

So in project one, you create a function that is passed to the testDM function as an argument called "myFunction". So please name your main function (the one you want to use in this way) "myFunction" in the script you submit.
